

REBUILD NEPAL

*Empowering a village.
Strengthening a community.*

The 2015 Nepal earthquakes reduced entire villages to rubble. Villages like Yarsa, where The D. Gary Young, Young Living Foundation is helping the community rebuild—brick by brick, home by home, family after family.

FROM RUINED TO RENEWED

Restoring hope with each brick.

In 2015, two major earthquakes in Nepal claimed nearly 9,000 lives. Villages in the beautiful Himalayan foothills were completely destroyed. Families were forced to take shelter with livestock before they could build temporary tin homes that are painfully inadequate against the rains and subzero temperatures.

*“You came from a far country... to build me this mansion, this palace.
You are like a god to me. You have given me and my family new life.”*

— PASANG SHERPA FROM YARSA

After visiting Nepal in January 2016, Young Living Founder and Chairman of the Board D. Gary Young put a plan in place. In the village of Yarsa, we are rebuilding each home—112 homes in all. In fact, we’ve already rebuilt the primary school.

YOUNG LIVING ACADEMY NO. 2

We’re turning the rebuilt primary school in Yarsa into the second Young Living Academy in the world! The school is officially called the Young Living Academy, Yarsa Primary School. At the outset, more than 40 children will attend this school that’s been equipped with new desks and whiteboards. In the near future, we will start a program so Young Living members can sponsor a child at the school.

#EVERYPENNYCOUNTS

On average, it takes more than 3,000 bricks to rebuild a home in Yarsa that is between 590 and 600 square feet. That means the cost per brick is about $1.60 USD.

The next time you round up your Young Living order, just add an extra $2 donation and you’ll have contributed at least one brick so a family in Yarsa can rebuild their home.
